India Ratified the Paris Agreement After China and USA about climate change

55 other countries are needed

Paris, Washington DC, 04.10.2016, 22:18 Time

USPA NEWS - To enter into force, the agreement reached in Paris must be ratified by at least 55 countries accounting for 55% of greenhouse gas emissions. A threshold is now at hand. With India and its approximately 4% of global emissions, a total of 62 countries representing 52% of global emissions.

To enter into force, the agreement reached in Paris in December 2015 must be ratified by at least 55 countries accounting for 55% of greenhouse gas emissions. A threshold is now at hand. With India and its approximately 4% of global emissions, a total of 62 countries representing nearly 52% of global emissions have ratified the agreement. China and the United States, the two most polluting countries, helped to speed up the process by ratifying the text early September.-----
